Tuatara touch down

Brook Waimārama Sanctuary has welcomed 56 tuatara to their new home: a 3.7-hectare mouse-free enclosure within the sanctuary.

Board Chairman Chris Hawkes says the release of these treasured native reptiles into their special enclosure is a red-letter day for the Sanctuary and the region.

"This is the first release of tuatara into the wild in the Whakatū/Nelson region in more than 100 years. This is a significant cultural milestone for Nelson city, for the region, and for iwi Māori, particularly Ngāti Koata, who are kaitiaki of Takapourewa/Stephens Island tuatara."

The tuatara were accompanied to their new home by representatives from Ngāti Koata as they travelled by car and plane from Palmerston North, ensuring the animals were handled with care and respect.

Biodiversity leads to ecosystem resilience to climate change

Councillors Aaron Stallard and Campbell Rollo with community member Mark Rosser, after helping people take the one-year survey.

eBus survey results

eBus recently conducted a public transport survey of passengers. Questions covered everything from frequency and reliability to safety and security.

eBus scored very highly across a number of metrics with an overall satisfaction rating of 94%. Vehicle quality and service access (both 93%) had the highest satisfaction with change information (69%) and service frequency (76%) indicating some areas where the service can improve. Many passengers asked for earlier and later services.

Councillors Aaron Stallard and Campbell Rollo, pictured here with eBus advocate Mark Rosser, conducted many of the surveys with Mark gathering a huge 85 responses! In total, 214 eBus passengers took part in the survey.

The results from this survey are included in a report to Waka Kotahi NZTA. The survey results, along with Shape submissions and customer service requests, will form a report to the Regional Transport Committee to outline any upcoming adjustments to the service.

Driver appreciation

Saturday 16 November was Bus Driver Appreciation Day.

Mayor Nick visited Nelson Coachlines with a cake to say thank you:

"These drivers have been key to the success of the eBus service. It's been a ripper success and that is hugely down to the friendly and safe service that's being provided by our drivers. If you're on the buses, give a big thumbs up and smile to our drivers."

Riverside Pool equipment upgrade

Riverside Pool will be closed from 1 December until the end of February for equipment replacement.

The existing heat pump and air handling-units for Riverside Pool have reached the end of their service lives and this project will replace them with modern equivalents.

FAQs

Can we swim at Nayland Pool? Yes, you can use your Riverside membership or concession cards at Nayland Pool.

Will the gym remain open? Yes, the gym will stay open with reduced hours. Some short power outages are expected during the upgrade.

Will the spa be open? No, all pools must be supervised by lifeguards, so the spa will also be closed.

Can I put my membership on hold? Yes, you can place your membership on hold for no charge by submitting a request.

Where will my kids' swim lessons take place? All swim lessons except babies, will move to Nayland Pool with the same schedule. We are making a plan for infant lessons in warmer weeks.

What about Aqua Aerobics classes? Our instructors have planned a tailored Aqua fitness programme at Nayland Pool.

Will the Legends Strong class continue? Yes, Caitlin will still run the Legends Strong class on Thursday mornings at Riverside Pool.

Can we use the Richmond Aquatic Centre? Since Richmond Aquatic Centre is in the Tasman District and operates independently despite being managed by CLM, your Riverside membership or concession cards won't be valid there. However, for Riverside Pool Members they are offering a three-month gym membership - Summer Special - $249.99 (Normally $350.00) – conditions apply.

I don't want to put my membership on hold, but cancel it. Can I join up again without paying joining fees? Yes, you can cancel your membership and rejoin without paying the joining fees. However, if there has been a price increase in the membership or joining fees when you rejoin, you'll need to pay the updated rate, as the previous terms won't apply after cancellation.
